Death of H. W. Atwood

It is our painful duty to chronicle the death of H. W. Atwood of Clear Creek Township. He took suddenly ill at the supper table of his home Monday. Dr. Knepper was called and found the patient suffering from appendicitis. Remedies were given and, while his condition was undoubtedly serious, he rallied wonderfully for a few hours. But death came very suddenly Tuesday 5:20 p. m. He died of heart failure and was ill less than 24 hours.

The deceased was a leading grand army man in this neighborhood, an honored citizen and a loyal friend. The funeral is being held at the M. E. church of Collins as we go to press. We will have full obituary notice in our issue next week. In the meantime we join in the sympathy of a large circle of friends in Collins township and Jasper County for the bereaved wife and family.

Soldier's Monument

The monument to Capt. Atwood in the Collins Cemetery is a handsome addition to the many fine monuments in our city of the dead. It is of gray granite, weight 9800 lbs. and the workmanship is chaste and, like the monument, in keeping with the Captain's strong and unaffected personality. The inscription is as follows:

Capt. H. W. Atwood
1837 1909
Co. F, 65 Ill. Inf.
