R.J. Bullock dies at York, Nebraska (York, Neb., Republican)

August 16, 1928 State Center Enterprise

Another one of the valiant band, that in the sixties donned the blue in defense of a unified nation, has answered "here" on another field of action. R.J. Bullock passed away at his home in South York on Wednesday morning, August first, after a short illness.

He was one of the early members of Robert Anderson post G.A.R. whose sturdy ranks are now reduced to twenty members, sixteen of whom reside in York.

Rutson Jesse Bullock was born May 29, 1845, at Penfield, Ill. He was the son of a Christian minister, Lewis F. Bullock and Betsy Reed. His parents passed away when he was a small boy and he was reared in the home of an uncle, Rutson Rodman Bullock, an early Iowa pioneer.
