

Fred Cheville,

89

1-94

MELBOURNE - Fred Marion Cheville, 89, of 225 E. Washington St., Rhodes, died Wednesday, July 20, at his home.

Services were held at 10 a.m. Monday, July 25, at the Rhodes United Methodist church. The Rev. Harold Werley officiated. Organist was Joyce Thomas and vocalist was Bruce Martin. Burial followed at Eden Cemetery in Rhodes. The Ryan-Davis Funeral was in charge of arrangements. Memorials may be directed to the Rhodes United Methodist Church.

He was born Sept. 16, 1904, in Maxwell, the son of George and Charlotte Backous Cheville. He was raised in the Maxwell and Rhodes area and graduated from the Rhodes Consolidated School in 1922. He received a two-year degree in agriculture from Graceland College. He was married to Lucille Kollman on June 24, 1930, in Westgate, IA.

He was a truck driver for Hildreth Poultry Company and retired in 1969. He has lived in Rhodes since 1911. He was a member of the Rhodes United Methodist Church.

Survivors include two sons, Norman, Ames, and Terry, Waverly; and six grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Lucille; a brother, Roy; and three sisters, Mabel Atkinson, Cora Shimel, and Mildred Cheville.

Casket bearers were Philip Buck, Donald Buck, Jack Gray, Ralph Lehman, Harlan Wendell, and Roger Gray.