Luella Jaroleman

Dies In Hospital;

Rites Due Tuesday

Services for Mrs. Luella A. Jaroleman, 102 North Fifth street, who died at 12:20 p. m., Saturday at St. Thomas Mercy hospital, will be conducted at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday at the Pursel funeral home in charge of Rev. Ronald W. Dickson. Burial will be in Eden cemetery at Rhodes.

She had been a patient at the hospital since suffering a fractured hip Nov. 3. Death was of complication of this injury and infirmities of age.

Born June 10, 1868 at Somonauk, Ill., the daughter of Amos and Ida Z. Harmon, she moved to Iowa when 10 years old and resided on a farm north of Rhodes. She attended Sate Center high school and later taught in the rural schools near Rhodes.

She was married Jan. 25, 1888 to Charles M. Jaroleman and they resided on a farm until moving to Marshalltown in 1911. Mr. Jaroleman died in 1930.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. David W. Buck of Rhodes, four grandchildren, Charles Buck of Jackson, Miss.; Mrs. Frank Chrisman of Blue Springs, Mo., and Philip and John Buck of Rhodes, and eight great grandchildren. A daughter, Winifred Luella, died in infancy.

Mrs. Jaroleman was the last member of her immediate family. She was a member of First Congregational church, the Witenage-mote club and Marshalltown chapter D.A.R.
