

<http://www.zwire.com/site/news.cfm?brd=2033>

Marjorie E. Fawcett

June 23, 1904, to May 21, 2002 June 27, 2002

Marjorie E. Fawcett, 97, of Nevada, died of congestive heart failure on May 21 at Story County Medical Center in Nevada, where she had resided for the past nine years.

Memorial services will be held on Sunday, June 30, at 2 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church in Nevada with Pastor Steve Williams officiating. Burial of the cremains will be held in the Nevada Municipal Cemetery.

She was born June 23, 1904, in Humboldt to E.W. and Grace (Hardy) Landsberg. She was a graduate of Simpson College and married Harold T. Fawcett on May 28, 1929, in Chicago. She taught school in Nevada. She was a member of the First United Methodist Church, P.E.O., Nevada Women's Club, Kensington Club and Alpha Chi Omega Sorority while at Simpson. She enjoyed bridge, music and received much pleasure from playing the piano.

Survivors include a daughter, Suzanne (and William) Ammerman of River Falls, Wis.; a son, John (and Marjean) of Ames; three grandsons; seven great-grandchildren; a sister, Virginia Leigon of Auburn, Calif.; and a brother, Bob Landsberg of Kennesaw, Ga.

She was preceded in death by her parents; her husband on Jan. 28, 1999; and four brothers and sisters.

Chet Ryan Mortuary, Nevada, is handling arrangements.

©Nevada Journal 2002