

OBITUARIES

Faye Richeson, 82

Faye Richeson, 82, of 805 3rd Avenue SW, State Center, died Tuesday, August 30, 2005, at the Mercy Hospice in Johnston, Iowa. Following cremation at Pursel-Davis Funeral Home & Crematory, a memorial service was held Saturday, September 3, 2005, at the Altoona United Methodist Church. Following the memorial a graveside service took place at the Hillside Cemetery in State Center. A time of friendship and fellowship was held at State Center United Methodist Church following the graveside services. Memorial contributions may be directed in her name to either the Altoona United Methodist Church or the Mercy Johnston Hospice. For further information or to send a condolence please visit www.purseldavis.com.

Faye was born June 22, 1923, in Gilman, Iowa, the daughter of Brady and Celeste E. (Lewis) Long. She was raised in LeGrand, Iowa where she graduated from the LeGrand High School. Faye was united in marriage to Daryl J. Richeson on September 13, 1941, in LaGrange, Missouri. Following their marriage they farmed in State Center, Radcliffe, Williams, Lamont and Woden, Iowa before retiring to State Center in 1983. Throughout her lifetime Faye was a devoted farm wife and mother to her family.

Throughout her entire life Faye was very active in church where she served with various committees and taught Sunday school. She enjoyed reading and participating in several local card clubs. Most of all Faye was devoted mother, grandmother and great-grandmother to her family.

Faye is survived by her daughter Lisa (Shawn) Schossow of Altoona, Iowa, her son Doug (Jan) Richeson of Northwood, Iowa, her seven grandchildren and her eleven great-grandchildren.

Faye was preceded in death by her parents, her husband Daryl and her two brothers: Perry and Jimmy and her sister Margaret.