

IN REMEMBRANCE

THE RHODES TRIBUNE

Friday, February 10, 1995.

Kathleen Malechek, 74, Marshalltown, formerly of Rhodes, died February 19, 1995. Services were held at St. Mary's Catholic Church on Wednesday with burial in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Rhodes. A memorial fund has been established.

Kathleen was the daughter of Fred and Maude Goodman Hale and had one brother, James Hale, all deceased. She and husband, Joe Malechek, (dec. 1991) were successful business owners in Rhodes for many years. She is survived by three sons, Robert, Joseph, and Jon. One son, Mike, died in 1970.

Kate was a lovely red-head, reflecting her English and Irish heritage. She was named for the song "Take Me Home Again, Kathleen" which was popular when she was born. She grew up in the Rhodes area, loved the outdoors, and often played at the Hoy bridge.

Our deepest sympathies to her family and friends. She will be missed.
