

Former Rhodes Man Dies As Result Of Accident

Rhodes -- (Special)--Leo Perry of Mitchellville, a former Rhodes resident, died at 5:30 Wednesday morning at Broadlawns hospital in Des Moines from injuries suffered in an auto accident Sunday night about 10 miles east of Des Moines.

The car in which he was riding collided with a car from Chicago, Ill. The driver of the car, Roy Devotie, and the other passenger, George Bean, were also from Mitchellville. Mr. Perry and Mr. Bean suffered skull fractures.

Mr. Perry, who was 56, lived in Rhodes for many years and served as postmaster and mail carrier. He was also a merchant. No funeral arrangements have been made. His widow and one brother, Russell of Boone, survive.
