

Helen J. Lanning

May 4 1982

Services were held Thursday at First United Methodist Church with Dr. J. Robert Burkhart in charge for Helen J. (Mrs. Max) Lanning, 64, Marshalltown, who died Tuesday morning at her home. Burial followed at Eden Cemetery.

Pall bearers were Robert Graves, Art Rogers, Duane Meyer, Melvin Riley, Chuck Ryan, and Vernon Kruse.

Music was provided by Gloria Hansen at the organ.

Arrangements were by Pursel-Davis Funeral Home. A memorial fund has been established.

Mrs. Lanning formerly was a vocal instructor at Rhodes, West Marshall and Marshalltown.

She was born June 28, 1917, at Sabula, the daughter of William J. and Nell Sullivan Kroeger. She spent her early life in Jackson County and was graduated from high school at Preston. She attended Iowa State Teachers College in Cedar Falls. She lived most of her married life in the Melbourne and Rhodes area, coming to Marshalltown 15 years ago.

Her first marriage was to Harold Levi Robinson, February 5, 1941, in Chicago. He preceded her in death in June, 1960.

She married Max L. Lanning, December 27, 1974, in Marshalltown. He survives, also two children, William Harold Robinson, Melbourne, and Connie Kay (Mrs. Ron) Everist, Brooklyn, Iowa; a sister, Dorothy (Mrs. Paul) Haight, Altamonte Springs, FL, and six grandchildren.

Besides her first husband, she was preceded in death by a brother.

Mrs. Lanning was a member of the First United Methodist Church, Chapter DA, TTT Society Tuesday Musical Club and the Tomorrow Club.
