

Vasey, Wilbur Roland. d. 6-23-1912

Collins
Gazette

6-20-1912

Obituary

Wilbur Roland Vasey was born in Story Co. Oct. 11, 1911, died June 13, 1912 at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Huntrod.

A baby face looked at us.
With eyes that seemed to say,
"I know how well you love me
But I must go away."

Wilbur, you filled a vacant place
Within our hearts and home,
Those little hands, and feet are still

And we are left alone.

The little cab is empty,
It hurts so much to see
Those little things of yours about
But, "good bye," it must be.

The funeral was held in the M. P. church Saturday morning. Many were present in sympathy with the bereaved ones. The floral tributes were very beautiful. The choir sang sweet and tenderly sympathetic hymns. The preacher was Rev. President Nutt of the M. P. conference. His discourse eloquently expressed comfort to the sorrowing relatives and was withal a fine sermon spoken from a heart and mind full of love and culture.

The interment was at the Evergreen cemetery by the side of the grave of the deceased baby's mother.

Infant son of Jessie Huntrods Vasey